

British Values in History

- Respect civil and criminal law

- Through the study of history students develop a knowledge, appreciation and understanding of:
 - The establishment of law and order in Britain and other nations across historical periods
 - The use of power and control in Britain and other nations across historical periods
 - The abuse of power and control in Britain and other nations across historical periods
 - Crime and punishment in Britain and other nations across historical periods
 - The role of people and protest as a vehicle for change

- Appreciate viewpoints of others on ethical issues

- Through the study of history students develop a knowledge, appreciation and understanding of:
 - The causes and consequences of conflict in Britain and other nations across historical periods
 - Interpretations of historical events, people and periods
 - Causes for the development of divergent interpretations
 - Moral values in Britain and other nations across historical periods
 - Ethical actions in Britain and other nations across historical periods

- Acceptance and engagement with fundamental British values of democracy

- Through the study of history students develop a knowledge, appreciation and understanding of:
 - The establishment of law and order in Britain and other nations across historical periods
 - The use of power and control in Britain and other nations across historical periods
 - The abuse of power and control in Britain and other nations across historical periods
 - The role of people and protest as a vehicle for change
 - The development of individual opinions

- Contribute positively to life in Modern Britain

- Through the study of history students develop a knowledge, appreciation and understanding of:
 - Citizenship – what it means to be a citizen of Great Britain and to exercise our civil rights
 - The integral importance of utilising the right to vote
 - The ability to appreciate divergent nations, events, people and beliefs
 - The ability to think critically, engage in discussions and question events and beliefs
 - Home and global events – their causes, events and effects

- Actively fighting extremism and radicalisation

- Through the study of history students develop a knowledge, appreciation and understanding of:
 - Human rights and responsibilities
 - Civil rights and responsibilities
 - Conflict and its impact on people and places
 - An interlinked and global community
 - The ability to think critically, engage in discussions and question events and beliefs
- Exemplar Topics - The Norman Conquest, the Peasants Revolution, the establishment of the Early Modern State, the English Civil War, the Republic, the Restoration of the Monarchy, the British Empire, the Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade, Suffrage for Women, Conflict and Warfare, the role of the Government and the Media, the Cold War, The Weimar Republic, The Third Reich, Civil Rights in the USA.